

ABSTRACT

Mammalian subjects may be phenotyped as poor or extensive metabolizers
5 with respect to CYP2C19 by measuring the ratio of R and S mephenytoin or Smephenytoin to S-4-hydroxymephenytoin produced from racemic mephenytoin in urine, saliva or plasma samples.